Returned Soldier
The Returned Soldier sculpture was commissioned by Benjamin Fitch and completed in 1867 by Larkin Goldsmith Meade, Jr., an American sculptor, classically trained in Italy.

The sculpture was placed at the first Veterans Home in Darien in 1867 and was cleaned and moved in 1985 to its present, prominent location as you enter the campus.
History

The Connecticut Veterans Home, founded in 1864, was the first home for Veterans in the country. The Home served the needs of thousands of Service members from various wars until 1940 when it was relocated to its current location in Rocky Hill where the support and care for Connecticut Veterans continues.
